costaid

Coping Strategies Against Information Disorder

Handout 2

Title of activity	Ethical Challenges in Information Disorder

Role-play scenarios

Citizen Journalism Unfolds:
Scenario: Participants act as citizens reporting on a breaking news event. They share real-time updates, images, and videos on social media to inform the public about the situation.

Health and Wellness Challenge:
Scenario: Two friends decide to start a health and wellness challenge. They document their journey on social media, sharing workout routines, healthy recipes, and progress updates to inspire others to join.

Environmental Awareness Campaign:
Scenario: Participants take on the roles of environmental activists organizing a campaign. They use social media to share facts about climate change, promote eco-friendly practices, and encourage their followers to participate in sustainable actions.

Virtual Book Club Meeting:
Scenario: A group of friends hosts a virtual book club meeting. They use social media to discuss the chosen book, share favorite quotes, and invite others to join the discussion, creating a digital reading community.

Travel Bloggers Explore:
Scenario: Two participants act as travel bloggers on a new adventure. They share stunning photos, travel tips, and cultural insights on social media to inspire followers to explore the same destination.

Tech Enthusiast Unboxing:
Scenario: A tech-savvy individual unboxes and reviews the latest gadget. They share their experience on social media, providing insights into the device's features, pros, and cons to help followers make informed purchasing decisions.

Online Learning Success Story:
Scenario: A student and a teacher share their online learning success story. They use social media to discuss effective study techniques, online resources, and the positive impact of virtual education.

DIY Home Improvement Project:
Scenario: Two participants tackle a DIY (Do It Yourself) home improvement project. They document the process, share before-and-after photos, and provide tips on social media to inspire others to take on similar projects.

Community Fundraising Event:
Scenario: Participants organize a virtual fundraising event for a local community cause. They use social media to spread the word, share donation links, and update followers on the progress toward the fundraising goal.